WHITE HOUSE CHRISTMAS TREE — A 90-foot-high Engelmann spruce starts a 2,490-mile journey from the Kootenai National forest near Libby, Mont., to the White House, where it will be lit Dec. 24 by President Eisenhower. This is the tallest of many tall White House trees to date.

Violent Death Reports Mar Holiday Period

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's accident death toll climbed steadily as the long Thanksgiving Day weekend went into its second full day Friday.

Since 6 p.m. Wednesday, at least 12 persons have been killed in Ohio traffic accidents. Two persons died in fires and two others in hunting accidents for a total of 16 accidental deaths.

Across the nation, the trend was about the same as in Ohio. Here is the latest tally of accidental deaths:

Traffic	145
Fire	18
Miscellaneous	29
Total	192

The count, which started at 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday, is to continue to midnight Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours.

Fires claimed the lives of nine children Thursday. Five died in a fire which destroyed a home for retarded and crippled children in Oklahoma City. Four children and their parents perished in a fire in the suburban area of Little Rock, Ark. Two 12-year-old Chicago boys drowned when they fell through the thin ice in a park lagoon.

Safety experts attribute the near normal traffic toll to the fact that highway travel over the Thanksgiving holiday is not as heavy as on other holidays such as Christmas, New Year's, Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day.

The National Safety Council does not make a preholiday estimate of the traffic toll for Thanksgiving. However, it estimated 470 traffic deaths could be expected for a comparable four-day non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

In a survey by The Associated Press, covering a 102-hour weekend period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16, the count was 394 deaths, 32 in fires and 121 from miscellaneous accidents, a total of 547.

The all-time record high in traffic deaths for a four-day holiday was 707 in the Christmas weekend of 1956. The over-all record for the same period also was set with deaths in fires and miscellaneous accidents boosting the 1956 Christmas total to 884.

Ohioan Arranges For Surrender of Son in Slaying

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland man arranged the surrender of his son to police over the Thanksgiving holiday in connection with the slaying last week of Edward G. Cerner, 46-year-old East Side businessman.

The youth, Carl Rawls, 22, was the third person taken into custody in the slaying. His father, Willie, who had known Detective Harry Davidson for 20 years, contacted Davidson and drove the detective to Louisville, Ky., where Carl Rawls surrendered.

The detective said Thursday that on the return trip the youth told him Pfc. Leon T. Curry, 21, engineered the robbery and struck the blows that killed Cerner.

Curry, the first to be arrested, has told police a third youth, Charles Harris, 19, struck Cerner with a plank during the robbery.

Girl, 17, Gets 'Lass Laugh' At Navy, Poses as Middie

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The Army football game had a conversational competitor among the brigade of midshipmen at the Naval Academy this week.

Discovery that a 17-year-old high school girl had sneaked into the academy and got away with posing as one of them had the 113-year-old institution buzzing.

All of the story hasn't been told as one midshipman out another on what he knew, Saturday's big game in Philadelphia had to take a back seat for awhile.

James P. Wilson's plans for a big time at the big game in his home town were junked as a result of the incident. He was removed as commander of the 3,600 midshipmen because he knew the girl was in the academy and failed to report it.

Robert L. Vogt of Norfolk, Va., a battalion commander, and Douglas Volgenau of Clarence, N. Y., a company commander, lost their ranks for the same reason.

Two midshipmen, William R. Evans of Trenton, N. J., and Michael J. Brown of Guyman, Okla., were directly involved in the incident. They face disciplinary action.

The girl, Susan Johnson, sneaked into the academy about two weeks ago. Academy officials at first announced last Monday only that the midshipmen officers had been stripped of their stripes "for administrative reasons."

Two days later, they confirmed reports that Miss Johnson's unauthorized presence in Bancroft Hall, the middle dormitory, was behind it.

A senior at Annapolis high and daughter of a surgeon, Dr. Marius P. Johnson, it was disclosed she also had stood evening formation in a middle uniform, marched in to the dining room and had dinner.

The body of Michael Spence, 8, son of Mrs. Ruby Spence of near Portsmouth, was found in the woods at 4:30 a.m., a .22 caliber rifle bullet wound just over the heart.

When young Spence was reported missing Thursday afternoon, someone recalled having seen him with Ralph Osborn Jr., who lives with his parents near the Spence home. Ralph first told sheriff's deputies he had not seen Michael, later changing his story to say that he had seen him in the woods but that he believed Michael had gone home.

A wide search of the woods began, deputies and state highway patrolmen searching with flashlights for many hours.

Deputies reported that early today young Osborn told his father he had shot Michael in a hunting accident. Later the boy led officers to the spot in the woods where Michael lay.

Ralph said his gun discharged accidentally when he stumbled over a log.

Toledoan Gets Nod as Ohio Senate Chief

Democratic Caucus Sees Carney Pull Out In Favor of King

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown withdrew today as candidate for majority leader in the Ohio Senate, "in the interest of party unity."

That left the field clear for Frank W. King of Toledo, choice of Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle. Carney's announcement came a few hours before the Senate Democrats, who numbered 20, assembled here for a party caucus.

Carney issued a statement saying, "I am voluntarily withdrawing from the race for majority leader of the state Senate. I am doing this for the purpose of party unity."

"It appears that Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo will be our leader. I know he will do a good job. I pledge my sincere co-operation to him and to Gov. DiSalle, to the end that the platform of the Democratic Party will be enacted into law."

"I thank the many senators who pledged support to my candidacy and urge them to work in unity for the purpose of a better state."

Last Monday the Carney backers met here in the home of Ray T. Miller Sr., Democratic chairman of Cuyahoga County. There were reports that Carney could count on 10 votes, one short of the necessary majority.

Sen. Fred Harter of Akron, who had been mentioned as a dark horse candidate, previously had announced he would not run. Another senator considered as a possible compromise choice was Edward H. Dell of Middletown.

Sen. Ed Witmer of Canton was expected to place King's name in nomination.

Both King and Carney are union members. King is a bricklayer, but works as an instructor of apprentices for the Toledo Board of Education. Carney is a staff representative of the United Steelworkers Union.

Either candidate, however, in defeat would undoubtedly assume a powerful role in the upcoming Senate. The second-ranking Senate role is the chairmanship of the Finance Committee, the group A top appointive job up for grabs at today's caucus is the $12,000-a-year post of Senate clerk being vacated by Republican Thomas E. Bateman.

Most talked of for appointment to the post as the Democrats take over the Senate for the first time in a decade are Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland, Democratic minority leader in the present Senate who was not a candidate for re-election, and Delbert Nixon, a former House clerk.

But it is known that Rep. G. D. Tablack, Sr., a Democrat, would be receptive if offered the post. The

Allies Mapping Strategy Against Soviet 'Free City'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its allies began mapping strategy today for a long diplomatic battle against the Soviet Union's "free city" campaign to oust them from West Berlin.

The State Department gave stern notice Thursday night that the U.S. government does not intend to "enter into any agreement with the Soviet Union which, whatever the form, would have the end result of abandoning the people of West Berlin to hostile domination."

The statement promised careful study of the Soviet proposal to convert West Berlin into a free city protected by some kind of United Nations watchdog operation. It also promised consultations with Britain, France and West Germany as well as the rest of the NATO Allies.

But officials said privately today that while the statement did not specifically and immediately reject the Soviet proposition, there was no doubt that in the long run, probably late next month, it would be turned down.

Some Western counterproposal calling for a solution of the Berlin problem as part of an all-German settlement may be put forth at the same time.

Indications were that the consultations will reach a climax at a meeting of foreign ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Allies in Paris Dec. 15. Officials predicted the Western powers would delay until then their reply to notes sent them Thursday by the Soviet government.

Reaction from European capitals concerned paralleled that in Washington: The "free city" formula offered by Khrushchev is but a device to get the Western powers to withdraw from Berlin, and is therefore unacceptable.

The United States statement said, "The Soviets seem to be proposing that while they keep their grip on East Berlin, the three Western Allies abandon their rights in West Berlin and retire in favor of what is called a 'free city.'"

The statement noted that the "free city" would be limited to West Berlin. It also emphasized that unless the Western nations accept the Soviet proposal within six months, the Soviet Union poses singlehandedly to abandon its position as an occupation power including its obligations to help the Western Big Three preserve their status in West Berlin.

"The United States will not acquiesce in a unilateral repudiation" of that kind, the U.S. statement said.

Indicating the nature of a possible countermove by the West, the State Department said that the United States, Britain and France have tried for years "to negotiate with the Soviets for the freedom of all of Germany, of which Berlin is part, on the basis of free elections by the German people themselves."

Soviet Offers To Discuss Global Inspection System

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet bloc offered today to negotiate an elaborate international inspection system to prevent surprise attack provided the West agreed to other disarmament measures.

Jiri Hajek of Czechoslovakia, speaking on behalf of the five Communist nations, put the offer before the 10-nation East-West conference on ways of preventing surprise attack.

A communique announcing the Communist proposal did not specify what other disarmament measures the Communists demanded.

It said Hajek submitted a proposal "for the establishment of ground observer posts and aerial inspection, and simultaneous realization of certain measures in the realm of disarmament to reduce the danger of surprise attack."

It was the second proposal put before the 19-day-old conference by the Soviet bloc, which is represented by delegates from the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Albania. The other Red proposal sought to prohibit flights of nuclear-armed aircraft over foreign countries or over the open sea, a move obviously aimed at the U.S. Strategic Air Command's constant readiness flights.

The Western delegations refused even to discuss the first proposal, contending it was political in nature and therefore outside the province of a conference that the West considers was called only to discuss the technicalities of prevention of surprise attacks.

It seemed likely the Western delegations would refuse to discuss the Communist disarmament proposals, whatever they were. The Western delegations have refused to discuss disarmament at this conference, contending it is another political question for which the technical conference was not called.

It was clear that the West was still determined not to let the conference turn into the kind of general disarmament discussion which has continued fruitlessly within the United Nations for 12 years.

State's Roads Hazardous as Cold Closes In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter has come to Ohio. A great blanket of snow covers the state. And more is coming.

Here is the weather bureau's forecast for the next five days:

Temperatures are expected to average five to eight degrees below normal. Normal high 41 north to 47 south. Normal low 26-31. Continued cold over the weekend, warming a little about Tuesday. Snow today and tonight, changing to snow flurries Saturday and snow flurries continuing over the extreme northern counties into Tuesday. Precipitation averaging three-tenths to five-tenths of an inch.

The weather bureau posted heavy snow warnings for all of the state and reported that between four and six inches would blanket Ohio before the snow changed to light flurries late tonight or Saturday.

A few northern counties had a light covering on Thanksgiving Day, but the greatest accumulation was reported at Cincinnati where three inches had fallen by 7 a.m. today.

With temperatures expected to remain around the freezing mark today, the weather bureau warned of hazardous road conditions.

It was more wintry in Cleveland today than it was in Anchorage, Alaska. The Ohio city had a low of 24 degrees while Anchorage reported a 31.

Traffic was badly snarled on Cincinnati's seven hills, which by 9 a.m. were covered with four inches of snow. Even heavy trolley cars and buses found the going difficult and in some parts of the city were an hour behind schedule.

The weather man said the snow would stop late tonight, but that it might total 10 inches by that time, with some rain and sleet adding to the situation.

Wilmington, Hamilton and Middletown also reported heavy snow, with traffic badly jammed.

Snow, sleet and rain swept across the Southwest and Midwest today as a huge mass of cold air held its grip across most sections of the nation.

Snowfalls up to 8 to 10 inches were in prospect in some areas in the south central region. Temperatures in northern Midwest areas dropped to 15 below zero.

Much colder weather moved in to the Northeast. Below freezing temperatures extended southward into Virginia and freezing weather nipped parts of the Gulf states.

The major snow belt extended from northeastern New Mexico and southeastern Colorado eastward as far as southern Indiana and northward into northern sections of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana.

Heaviest falls were in most of the area from the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles across Kansas and Missouri into western Illinois and southern Iowa. Snow depths ranged up to more than 5 inches in Olathe in eastern Kansas and more than 4 inches in Kansas City.

No immediate letup of the snow was indicated as the wet weather headed from the central and southern Plains and Mississippi Valley eastward into the mid and south Atlantic states.

It was mostly clear in the Northeast but temperatures dropped into the teens in northern New England and mountain sections of Pennsylvania.

Heiducki gave no information about himself, but Beckman-Downtown Hospital, where he was taken for treatment of malnutrition and exposure, said he had been treated there Tuesday for a dislocated shoulder.

Tragic Fire Hits Family Second Time

MILFORD, Conn. (AP) — Eight years ago the Ernest DuMonts lost four children in a fire at their Claremont, N.H., home.

Thursday, a similar fire killed their 3-year-old daughter, Tamora, in the home where they had moved to build a new life — and a new family.

The fires were strikingly similar. Each started in a space heater.

DuMont, 31, and his wife were childless when they moved here six years ago. They had lost Theodore, 5; Henry, 4; Richard, 2; and 2-month-old Patricia.

But four other babies came along.

Thursday, the children were asleep — Tamora, Ralph, 6; James, 5; and Marjorie, 2. The DuMonts were talking with DuMont's 21-year-old brother Richard.

Suddenly the heater exploded.

DuMont and his brother vainly tried to fight the fire. Mrs. DuMont fled with Marjorie. The two men jumped from a second-story window with the two boys in their arms.

Tamora died.

Judge Extends Injunction, Chides Both Sides in Strike

A federal judge in New York City today extended until Monday an order restraining the Air Line Pilots Assn. from striking American Airlines. The order, issued Monday, was to have expired tonight.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan criticized both sides for failing to get together in a scheduled meeting this week. He said they had acted "pretty silly" and had "failed morally."

Operations of two other major airlines—Eastern and Trans World—have been halted by strikes involving about 35,000 flight engineers and mechanics.

In Miami, U.S. judge Emmett C. Choate said he intends to issue a "partial injunction" in the Eastern Air Lines flight engineers strike. He did not elaborate.

Eastern has asked Choate to enjoin its engineers from striking over a requirement that they be qualified pilots before being allowed to fly in jet planes.

The engineers said wages and working conditions also are at issue and that a ruling on the pilot training requirement would not affect the walkout.

"We will continue striking on the other issues," said O. N. Roberts, chairman of the Miami EAL chapter of the Flight Engineers International Assn.

American Airlines has asked Bryan to extend a temporary injunction against a strike by its 1,500 pilots, who are seeking higher wages, a shorter work schedule and rules changes.

Meanwhile, nonstrike airlines have been filling the gap in air transportation, but not without some delays and confusion. Putting every available aircraft into service Wednesday, these lines handled the holiday crush. Trains and buses were jammed too.

But Thursday there was the usual mid-holiday lull, with most carriers reporting little crowding. When vacationists start returning home this weekend, however, the transportation problem will become complex again.

A third strike, by stewards and stewardesses of Lake Central Airlines in the Midwest, has delayed but not halted operations. The dispute involves wage demands.

When the counting was closed off Wednesday night with 213 of 287 precincts in Bartlett had 29,888 votes to 5,405 for Republican R. E. Robertson and 414 for independent Keith Capper.

The other Senate seat went to Ernest Gruening, a former territorial governor who beat back another former governor of Alaska, Mike Stepovich, by a vote of 19,017 to 17,084 with 213 precincts counted.

William Egan, a Valdez merchant, won the governorship over the GOP's John Butrovich Jr., 21,565 votes to 12,553.

Two nurses and two firemen were slightly injured. About 12 patients had to be evacuated.

Stock Mart Resumes Its Upward Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market resumed its comeback early this afternoon from the beating taken the first two sessions of this week. Trading was active.

Pivotal stocks moved ahead generally fractions to a point or so. A few issues were up around two or three points.

The advance looked to brokers like a resumption of a technical rebound accompanied by some favorable news from business and industry.

Industrials, rails and utilities moved forward together. Some fair gainers were produced by the steels, motors, chemicals, rubbers, electronics and drugs.

Goodyear added more than three points and General Tire over two. Eversharp and Raytheon also rose beyond two.

American Telephone, International Telephone, Western Union, Atlantic Coast Line, Northern Pacific (ex-dividend), Johns-Manville and Union Carbide were up more than a point each.

American Motors lost a point. Studebaker-Packard rose around a point.

Other gains of about a point were made by U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet, Woolworth, General Dynamics, Anacosta, Kennecott, Westinghouse Electric, Merck and Pfizer.

Long range U.S. government bonds drifted lower.

Fewer Jobs

Teaching by Parables

JESUS TOLD SIMPLE STORIES TO HIS HEARERS THAT THEY MIGHT UNDERSTAND HIS PREACHING

Scripture—Mark 4:1-34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
WHAT IS a parable? Webster's standard dictionary says it is "an allegorical method of conveying instruction by means of a fable or short, fictitious narrative; a comparison or similitude." The Standard Encyclopedia says it is
"the name given originally by Greek rhetoricians to a literary illustration. In the Hellenistic and
New Greek Testament it came to signify a short, fictitious narrative designed to convey some
spiritual truth."

The parable was Jesus' method
of making His listeners understand His teachings. He was again at the Sea of Galilee, where
so great a multitude had gathered
that "He entered into a ship, and
sat in the sea; and the whole
multitude was by the sea on the land. And He taught them many things by parables."—Mark 4:1-2.

The first parable was about a sower. As he scattered the seeds,
"it came to pass, as he sowed,
some fell by the way side, and the
fowls of the air came and devoured it up. And some fell on stony ground, where it had not
much earth; and immediately it
sprang up, because it had no
depth of earth; but when the sun

saying, "He that hath ears to hear, let him hear." Some who heard Him did understand and believe; many did not. Even the 12 apostles asked Him, when they were alone, what the parable meant, and He explained it, saying, "Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but unto them that are without, all these things are done in parables: that seeing they may see, and not perceive; and hearing they may hear, and not understand; lest at any time they should be converted, and their sins should be forgiven them."—Mark 4:11-12.

Today many Christian missionaries are laboring in faraway lands to bring the Gospel of Jesus Christ to those who know Him
not. Many are brought to Christ
by these noble men and women.
There doubtless are some, however, who do not understand His word and, like the multitudes to whom Christ preached, hear but do not heed it. "These are they which are sown among thorns...
And the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things entering in, choke the word, and it be-cometh unfruitful."—Mark 4:18-19.

MEMORY VERSE

"Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves."—James 1:22.

was up, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered
away. And some fell among thorns, and the thorns grew up,
and choked it, and it yielded no
fruit.

"And other fell on good ground,
and did yield fruit that sprang
up and increased; and brought forth, some thirty, and some sixty, and some a hundred."—
Mark 4:20.

"Before considering this parable, perhaps we should remind
ourselves of the sowing customs
of Palestine in Jesus' day. . . .
The grain was broadcast on the fields by hand, and covered by
harrowing or raking the ground.
A thorn bush is often used as a rake." I quote from Peloubert's Select Notes, edited by Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, which continues:
"The fields are so small even today, except on the coastal plains
or in the valley of Esdraelon, that
the use of modern equipment is impractical. The various types of soil mentioned in the parable
might readily be found in the
same field."

In simple language, then, a parable is a story that all Christ's listeners might understand. So did Jesus sow the word of God.

MOUNTAINAIR, N. M. (AP) —
Frank Evans, 22, of Dora pulled
on a pair of coveralls near here
while working on a range reseed-

Evans quickly shucked off the
coveralls when something bit him.
He figured it was a scorpion. But hours later, he discovered a two-foot rattler in the coveralls. His partner took him on a wild 23-mile
ride to Mountainair during which the car tumbled into a ditch. Re-

Missing Preacher Is Found Happy, a Gambling Joint Aide

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A
missing Baptist minister from Kansas, found working as a shill
in a gambling casino, says: "I've never been happier. For the first time in my life I have peace of mind."

The Rev. Maurice D. Tulloch,
50, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sabetha, Kan., vanished
there two months ago. Located Wednesday at a downtown room-
ing house by a reporter, he said
he abandoned his church and
home to get away from his wife.

The minister said he came here
to get a divorce because "I'm tired of my wife after 25 years,"
he added: "I left because I felt the wall closing in." He said he referred to his wife and the church.

For 18 years he had been a
church troubleshooter, a pastor
assigned to churches in financial
or morale trouble in communities
of 1,500 to 2,000.

Last Sept. 29, he said, he walked out in the middle of a church seminar and went to a bus station. He stood in line behind a woman he heard order a ticket to Las Vegas and, on the spur of
the moment, ordered the same.
Arriving in this desert gambling
resort, he had only $20 in his pocket. He asked a waitress if she knew of any work. She advised him to seek work as a shill
— a casino employee who poses as
a customer to drum up trade.

"I walked into the first casino
I passed, told the boss I had never seen gambling and would like to learn, so he put me to work as a shill," he said.

"I'm going to write a book
about gambling. It's fascinating,
the characters you meet here."
He said he's also writing a book on "Practical Thinking for Christian People," which he described as a common-sense approach to world problems.

Ike Grumbles, Finds Carving Knife Is Dull

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — It was a
grand Thanksgiving Day for the Eisenhowers — even though the President had a bit of trouble
carving a 35-pound turkey.

He blamed it on a dull knife.

The President and the First Lady were joined at dinner by their son, Army Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife and their four children.

Dinner was served on the sun-
porch of the President's vacation
residence at the Augusta National Golf Club. It was a gay table with a centerpiece of chrysanthemums
and yellow gladioli.

The golden brown turkey was
stuffed with a dressing of oysters
and corn bread.

There also were heaping dishes
of mashed potatoes and gravy,

Teaching by Parables

JESUS TOLD SIMPLE STORIES TO HIS HEARERS THAT THEY MIGHT UNDERSTAND HIS PREACHING

Scripture—Mark 4:1-34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
WHAT IS a parable? Webster's standard dictionary says it is "an
allegorical method of conveying instruction by means of a fable or comparison, or similitude." The Standard Encyclopedia says it is
"the name given originally by
Greek rhetoricians to a literary illustration. In the Hellenistic and
New Greek Testament it came to
signify a short, fictitious narrative designed to convey some
spiritual truth."

The parable was Jesus' method
of making His listeners understand His teachings. He was again at the Sea of Galilee, where
so great a multitude had gathered
that "He entered into a ship, and
sat in the sea; and the whole
multitude was by the sea on the land. And He taught them many things by parables."—Mark 4:1-2.
The first parable was about a
sower. As he scattered the seeds,
"it came to pass, as he sowed,
some fell by the way side, and the
fowls of the air came and devoured it up. And some fell on
stony ground, where it had not
much earth; and immediately it
sprang up, because it had no
depth of earth; but when the sun

saw, it was scorched; and because it had no root, it withered
away. And some fell among
thorns, and the thorns grew up,
and choked it, and it yielded no
fruit. "And other fell on good ground,
and did yield fruit that sprang
up and increased; and brought
forth, some thirty, and some
sixty, and some a hundred."—
Mark 4:3-8.
"Before considering this parable, perhaps we should remind
ourselves of the sowing customs
of Palestine in Jesus' day. . . .
The grain was broadcast on the
fields by hand, and covered by
harrowing or raking the ground.
A thorn bush is often used as a rake." I quote from Parables of Jesus, edited by Dr. Wilbur
M. Smith, which continues:
"The fields are so small even to-
day, except on the coastal plains
or in the valley of Esdraelon, that
the use of modern equipment is impractical. The various types of
soil mentioned in the parable
might readily be found in the
same field."
In simple language, then, a
parable is a story that all Christ's listeners might understand. So
did Jesus sow the word of God.

"There are poor men who have no anxiety, and rich men who are not misled by their riches either to dependence on their wealth or desire to make it more."
—Marcus Dods, (1834-1909), Scottish theologian. Today we see many poor men who live noble lives, helping those who are more fortunate than they, and rich men who dedicate great sums of their wealth to the benefit of all mankind.
The parables of the candle and the mustard seed will interest the classes, but we have no space to enlarge on them here.
Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the teachers of the younger classes take to the class a few good seeds that will grow and flourish if planted, and also small pieces of wax or some other inanimate material of the shape and size of seeds, to point out that some seeds are alive and will grow if properly planted while the others have no power to grow.
The older students may be reminded of the voices that we hear over the radio and television and all around. Smith writes, "Never before have our Lord's words,
'Take heed how ye hear' been more important."

Rattler Strikes

MOUNTAINAIR, N. M. (AP)—
Frank Evans, 22, of Dora pulled
on a pair of coveralls near here
while working on a range reseeding project.
Evans quickly shucked off the
coveralls when something bit him.
He figured it was a scorpion. But
hours later, he discovered a two-
foot rattler in the coveralls. His partner took him on a wild 23-mile
ride to Mountainair during which
the car tumbled into a ditch. Result: a desperate battle for life and a 10-week stay in the hospital.

neficiary under the will of Earl Scott who had owned 280 acres.

Missing Preacher Is Found Happy, a Gambling Joint Aide

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A
missing Baptist minister from Kansas, found working as a shill
in a gambling casino, says: "I've never been happier. For the first time in my life I have peace of
mind."

The Rev. Maurice D. Tulloch,
50, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Sabetha, Kan., vanished
there two months ago. Located
Wednesday at a downtown room-
ing house by a reporter, he said
he abandoned his church and
home to get away from his wife.
The minister said he came here
to get a divorce because "I'm
tired of my wife after 25 years,"
he added: "I left because I felt
the wall closing in." He said he
referred to his wife and the
church.

For 15 years he had been a
church troubleshooter, a pastor
assigned to churches in financial
or morale trouble in communities
of 1,500 to 2,000.

Last Sept. 29, he said, he
walked out in the middle of a
church seminar and went to a bus
station. He stood in line behind a
woman he heard order a ticket to Las Vegas and, on the spur of
the moment, ordered the same.
Arriving in this desert gambling
resort, he had only $20 in his pocket. He asked a waitress if
she knew of any work. She advised him to seek work as a shill
—a casino employee who poses as
a customer to drum up trade.

"I walked into the first casino
I passed, told the boss I had never
seen gambling and would like to
learn, so he put me to work as
a shill," he said.

"I'm going to write a book
about gambling. It's fascinating,
the characters you meet here."
He said he's also writing a
book on "Practical Thinking for Christian People," which he described as a common-sense approach to world problems.

Spectacled, with graying, crew-cut hair, the pastor looks closer to 40 than 50. He talked rationally and appeared healthy and in good spirits.
Tulloch said his wife Nellie, had been nervous and under a doctor's care. He has a son, 25, and a daughter, 19.
He said he had talked with his wife by telephone and she had asked him to return and start a new life. He said he told her that was impossible and he's happy
now.
Tulloch earns $1 an hour, six or seven days a week. He said he still attends church — the Church of Christ — every Sunday.
He said he doesn't plan to continue working in the casino and has applied for a job with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation at nearby Hoover Dam.

Ike Grumbles, Finds Carving Knife Is Dull

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—It was a
grand Thanksgiving Day for the Eisenhowers — even though the President had a bit of trouble
carving a 35-pound turkey.

He blamed it on a dull knife.
The President and the First Lady were joined at dinner by
their son, Army Maj. John Eisenhower, his wife and their four children.

Dinner was served on the sun-
porch of the President's vacation
residence at the Augusta National Golf Club. It was a gay table with
a centerpiece of chrysanthemums
and yellow gladioli.

The golden brown turkey was
stuffed with a dressing of oysters
and corn bread.

There also were heaping dishes
of mashed potatoes and gravy,

Nothing To Fear but Fear

There is nothing wrong with being afraid. Fear is normal. It is an instinctive part of man's makeup, a built-in chemical reaction to help him meet danger. Only when the mechanism gets out of kilter, to produce excessive fear of little things or apathy in the face of danger, is the individual reacting abnormally.

Tensions of the cold war are not having a salutary effect upon the mental health of America. In the opinion of experts in human relations. Every normal person will feel increased tensions, which will not mean he is becoming neurotic as long as his reaction is not extreme.

The person who is unmoved by such feelings, unless he is an ignoramus, is not reacting normally. Maybe he ought to see a psychiatrist and perhaps be treated for escapism or glandular deficiency. The person who reacts extravagantly will bear watching, too.

The effect of war tensions on persons who are already seriously neurotic does not always seem to be detrimental, though. In the last war some neurotics who lived through bombing raids actually seemed to become more normal. Having something real to be afraid of made their imaginary or exaggerated fears lose importance to them.

Associating with others in the same fix and hearing their fears expressed helped such neurotics to feel more secure and get a grip on themselves. In fact, these experts say, one of the best antidotes for fear is talking about it with other people. Fear is less harmful to those who do not exaggerate it, belittle it, or run away from it.

Can Humans Taste Water?

Dogs never know what color looks like. They are color blind, and their world looks like a black-and-white photograph.

Man can see color, but he cannot taste water, judging by recent experiments. Water, according to the scientists involved, does have a taste. Frogs, cats, dogs, pigs, monkeys and chickens can taste water. Men, women and children cannot.

Previous experiments revealed that the animals named have a water taste. Lack of such a taste in the human species was demonstrated in Stockholm recently during an operation for deafness. The operation exposed the chorda tympani nerve, which was then hooked up with tiny wires to record taste impulses.

When bitter, sweet, and salty solutions

were applied to the patient's tongue, nervous impulses were recorded. When water was applied, nothing happened.

This proves that man cannot taste water—in Stockholm, anyway. But if the findings apply to water in some big cities, millions of people must be suffering from mass hallucination.

A Thanksgiving Day Fable

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A Thanksgiving fable:

Everything went right from the start. It was almost too perfect.

When Marybelle suggested, "I'd like to have my brothers and their families over for Thanksgiving," Jim, her husband, didn't argue at all. He said right away, "Why, honey, what a splendid idea."

And when Jim brought home the turkey it turned out to be, for the first time in their wedded life, just the right size for the oven.

"And not even a pineapple left to pick," marveled Marybelle. And when her folks arrived, Roscoe, the older stinky brother, brought a big bouquet. Russell, the younger brother who had learned from Roscoe how to be a tightwad and then gone on to improve the art himself, showed up with two bottles of fine wine.

And while the dinner was cooking, Roscoe and Russell asked Jim

his political views instead of giving theirs.

And Marybelle's nine nephews and nieces all played contentedly together in the den, and none cried, and none broke anything.

And when everybody sat down at the table and the wives of Roscoe and Russell saw the new silverware Jim had bought Marybelle as an anniversary present, they admired the pattern and weren't the least bit jealous.

And when Marybelle brought in the turkey it was done to a perfect golden brown—not a burned spot anywhere. And Jim didn't grumble or feel the least bit nervous about carving. The knife was sharp as a razor. The turkey didn't crumble like a tired cookie, but peeled off in one magnificent slice after another.

And everybody got just the kind of meat he wanted. The stuffing was a mottled delight, the gravy a brown ecstasy, the cranberry cause a crimson thrill, and the pumpkin pie a tawny delight.

And, oh, the wine shed a rosy glow over all, and it was wonderful, wonderful all the way.

And Roscoe and Russell, protesting it had been a perfect day, waddled home.

Jim took off his shoes, and sank down happily in the sofa. Marybelle brought him his slippers, lit his cigar for him and murmured happily, "It sure was a lucky day for me when I first saw you."

And Jim murmured, "I must be dreaming all this. Maybe we'd better pinch each other." And they did pinch each other—and sure enough, they were dreaming. It was 6 a.m., on Thanksgiving morning, and the day hadn't even begun.

Old Harold Has Had It

By George Sokolsky

Politics being the gentle art of controlling people and holding power, Harold Stassen started life like a ball of fire, became Governor of Minnesota when most youngsters are busy courting damsels, achieved national distinction and became a factor in world affairs. Came into his heart the ambition to be President—noble and laudable and promised to every male baby born in the United States the ultimate goal, although only 33 have made it.

But something was lacking in Stassen's character and personality. He did not take. Instead Wendell Willkie, an utter stranger to Republicans, became so important that Stassen could only back in his sun. Then followed Thomas E. Dewey and Dwight D. Eisenhower. Stassen never made the grade.

It could have been said, and probably was, that Minnesota was an unsatisfactory state for the kind of national and international career that Stassen had cut out for himself. At any rate, he moved to Pennsylvania, a stone's throw from both Washington and New York, the centers of greatness.

Harold Stassen was made president of the University of Pennsylvania which could be a good job if one knows something about being president of a university. Stassen was quite obviously bored with the problems of freshmen and the complaints of professors.

Eisenhower was elected President and Stassen went into government in a sort of ambiguous position but sufficiently good for speech-making and travelling about the world. His name often appeared in newspapers. It was known in political circles that one of pettedness Stassen pleased President Eisenhower in the Presidency. But life is full of expectations and hopes.

Richard Nixon, once a member of Congress from California, reached a moment of distinction and political fortuitousness that he was nominated and elected Vice President. Many persons, at the time, were not too favorably impressed by Nixon. He seemed young, almost boyish, and even brash. The so-called liberals hated him because he had uncovered the Pumpkin Papers which ultimately sent Alger Hiss to prison. Some of the conservatives disliked him because they said that he had not stuck up for Joe McCarthy.

Be that as it may, Nixon has made an extraordinarily brilliant Vice President. Instead of taking his siesta as he presided over the Senate, as so many Vice Presidents have done in the past, Nixon has worked hard, performing many important tasks for the President, and representing his country magnificently abroad.

Sherman Adams disliked Nixon because strange as it may seem now, Adams too aspired to the ultimate. So Adams and Stassen combined in 1956 to get Nixon dumped—a futile, childish play doomed to failure when it was first bruited, and failing, of course, in the end.

Harold Stassen thereupon retired to Philadelphia where he became a lawyer, which in that city is the most respected profession. However, not long satisfied with such eminence, Stassen determined to run for Governor of Pennsylvania, but the Republicans of that state said nay, nominating instead an eminent manufacturer of pretzels.

One would imagine that Stassen would take the hint and would retire to the law courts and the accumulation of heavy fees. But hope burns eternal in the human soul, and so, Stassen again seeks to drive Nixon from the political arena. Stassen has drawn up a slate of persons who might succeed President Eisenhower, omitting Nixon's name. Those whose names appear are acceptable to Harold Stassen, which matters to the extent that he has one vote in the State of Pennsylvania.

But the question that must be asked is, what is behind Harold Stassen? Who made it possible for him to shift about so freely, for it was never known that Stassen, when he was Governor of Minnesota, was a rich man?

These are pointed questions and can be asked about nearly everyone in public life, but the Stassen opposition to Nixon seems so vindictive, so directly and even hatefully personal, that one wonders why. Even if a Republican could be elected in 1960, why would anyone, while this party is in such bad shape, start another quarrel in it now? It does not make sense unless there is a motive more profound than meets the eye.

It has been said in Republican circles that President Eisenhower at some time gave Stassen to believe that he was the favorite. But favorites always are changed among the lordly.

Keep New Baby Warm

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
With winter and colder weather fast approaching, I'd like to pass on a few timely tips to those of you with new babies in your homes.

You don't want the infant kicking off the covers and you don't want to pin the covers firmly to the bed. So you may want to buy or make a sleeping garment that will keep you free from concern.

A baby sleeping bag is a relatively inexpensive item and certainly is well worth the cost. Generally, such a garment is all the outer covering a baby will need.

You can make one by using a partly worn blanket, if you wish. It should be cut so that it resembles a very long and loose-sleeved kimono.

The bottom, of course, should be sewed with a zipper or snaps fastening the front. It should be large enough to permit the baby to stand when he is old enough and to move about freely.

Whether you buy or make such a garment, be sure that it doesn't bind at the throat when the baby turns and twists.

Putting a sweater over the baby's nightgown and placing an extra pair of warm sleeper pants containing feet over the lower portion of his body also will help keep him warm without blankets.

Generally, however, most babies are kept too warm rather than too cold.

If your baby is old enough to sit up and go outside you probably will have use for a woolen playsuit or coverall. Since clothes are warmer if they are loose enough to leave a space around the body, make sure that these items are plenty large.

At this age, remember, your tot won't be active enough to do anything to keep himself warm.

The World Today

By James Marlow

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon laid an egg, ostrich-size.

He conducted a scare campaign against the Democrats in the 1958 election drive and urged all Republican candidates for Congress to do the same. It didn't work. The Republicans suffered disaster.

This week it was disclosed that Nixon, two weeks before the November elections, sent a telegram to all the Republican candidates, giving them advice on how to win and urging them to fight along the lines he suggested.

But, as the elections showed, he had poor insight on how the vote would go and he was wrong in his guess on how to win.

His telegram, sent Oct. 19, suggested the scare campaign:

"As far as our opponents are concerned, they offer again nothing new but a return to the radical policies that in 20 years failed to produce prosperity except in war or as a result of war. . . .

"By electing more Democrats the voters are taking a grave risk that their taxes will be raised, prices will skyrocket and unemployment will increase because of the stifling effect of the anti-private enterprise policies of the radical wing of the Democratic party."

When Nixon sent his telegram, he had campaigned around the country and knew that various polls were predicting a Democratic sweep. But he said in his message:

"I am convinced that if we hammer on this line from now to election day we can blitz the opposition and shift thousands of votes in close races throughout the country."

Perhaps what Nixon said in his telegram and what he thought privately were not necessarily the same thing. His office said this week that not long before the elections the vice president took a more realistic view of what lay ahead.

Nevertheless, in his telegram he said: "As to our prospects, I believe that as we enter the last two weeks of the campaign there is no question but that the tide that was running so strongly against us has taken a sharp turn in our favor."

But the tide which rolled in on election day almost drowned the Republican party.

Nixon urged the Republicans, while conducting the scare campaign he suggested, to wear a kind of Sunny Jim look.

"From now on in press conferences and speeches, all Republican candidates and spokesmen should radiate optimism and should not be on the offensive. There must not be any more defensive, apologetic, defeatist talk," he said.

Nixon used rock-'em-sock-'em tactics when he won election to the Senate in 1950 and again when he and President Eisenhower won in 1952 together with their fellow Republicans who that year got control of Congress.

But in the three elections since then—in 1954, 1956 and again in 1958—all Nixon's tough campaigning wasn't convincing enough to persuade the voters. Republicans should run Congress.

In all the elections since 1954—including 1956 when Eisenhower and Nixon won a second term—the voters turned their backs on the Republicans as a party and gave control of Congress to the Democrats.

Perhaps now Nixon, after some self-examination and examination of the results of three elections in a row, may decide to change his tactics when he seeks the Republican presidential nomination in 1960, as he almost certainly will.

Conductor Rodzinski Dies At Age of 64

BOSTON (AP)—Artur Rodzinski, one of the world's great symphony conductors—and one of the most temperamental—died Thursday night at Massachusetts General Hospital of a heart ailment.

Although references gave his age as 64, his widow, Halina, his second wife, said he was 66.

Rodzinski conducted most of the country's major orchestras, but his tenure with them often ended in stormy battles with their management.

Rodzinski's final performance was in Chicago, where 10 days ago he presented Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" with the Lyric Opera Company in a triumphant return to the podium in the city where he was abruptly dismissed 10 years ago as conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Rodzinski was born in the small town of Spalato in Dalmatia, of Polish parents. He spent his boyhood in Lvov in southern Poland, now part of the Soviet Union. His father was a surgeon with the Russian army.

He first came to the United States in 1925 and became a naturalized citizen in 1933.

Rodzinski was playing the piano at 6 and pursued his musical career with fanatical devotion all his life.

Nothing To Fear but Fear

There is nothing wrong with being afraid. Fear is normal. It is an instinctive part of man's makeup, a built-in chemical reaction to help him meet danger. Only when the mechanism gets out of kilter, to produce excessive fear of little things or apathy in the face of danger, is the individual reacting abnormally.

Tensions of the cold war are not having a salutary effect upon the mental health of America, in the opinion of experts in human relations. Every normal person will feel increased tensions, which will not mean he is becoming neurotic as long as his reaction is not extreme.

The person who is unmoved by such feelings, unless he is an ignoramus, is not reacting normally. Maybe he ought to see a psychiatrist and perhaps be treated for escapism or glandular deficiency. The person who reacts extravagantly will bear watching, too.

The effect of war tensions on persons who are already seriously neurotic does not always seem to be detrimental, though. In the last war some neurotics who lived through bombing raids actually seemed to become more normal. Having something real to be afraid of made their imaginary or exaggerated fears lose importance to them.

Associating with others in the same fix and hearing their fears expressed helped such neurotics to feel more secure and get a grip on themselves. In fact, these experts say, one of the best antidotes for fear is talking about it with other people. Fear is less harmful to those who do not exaggerate it, belittle it, or run away from it.

Can Humans Taste Water?

Dogs never know what color looks like. They are color blind, and their world looks like a black-and-white photograph.

Man can see color, but he cannot taste water, judging by recent experiments. Water, according to the scientists involved, does have a taste. Frogs, cats, dogs, pigs, monkeys and chickens can taste water. Men, women and children cannot.

Previous experiments revealed that the animals named have a water taste. Lack of such a taste in the human species was demonstrated in Stockholm recently during an operation for deafness. The operation exposed the chorda tympani nerve, which was then hooked up with tiny wires to record taste impulses.

When bitter, sweet, and salty solutions

were applied to the patient's tongue, nervous impulses were recorded. When water was applied, nothing happened.

This proves that man cannot taste water—in Stockholm, anyway. But if the findings apply to water in some big cities, millions of people must be suffering from mass hallucination.

A Thanksgiving Day Fable

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A Thanksgiving fable:

Everything went right from the start. It was almost too perfect.

When Marybelle suggested, "I'd like to have my brothers and their families over for Thanksgiving," Jim, her husband, didn't argue at all. He said right away, "Why, honey, what a splendid idea."

And when Jim brought home the turkey it turned out to be, for the first time in their wedded life, just the right size for the oven.

"And not even a pinfeather left to pick," marveled Marybelle.

And when her folks arrived, Roscoe, the older stinky brother, brought a big bouquet. Russell, the younger brother who had learned from Roscoe how to be a tightwad and then gone on to improve the art himself, showed up with two bottles of fine wine.

And while the dinner was cooking, Roscoe and Russell asked Jim

his political views instead of giving theirs.

And Marybelle's nine nephews and nieces all played contentedly together in the den, and none cried, and none broke anything.

And when everybody sat down at the table and the wives of Roscoe and Russell saw the new silverware Jim had bought Marybelle as an anniversary present, they admired the pattern and weren't the least bit jealous.

And when Marybelle brought in the turkey it was done to a perfect golden brown—not a burned spot anywhere.

And Jim didn't grumble or feel the least bit nervous about carving. The knife was sharp as a razor. The turkey didn't crumble like a tired cookie, but peeled off in one magnificent slice after another.

And everybody got just the kind of meat he wanted. The stuffing was a mottled delight, the gravy a brown ecstasy, the cranberry cause a crimson thrill, and the pumpkin pie a tawny delight.

And, oh, the wine shed a rosy glow over all, and it was wonderful, wonderful all the way.

And Roscoe and Russell, protesting it had been a perfect day, waddled home.

Jim took off his shoes, and sank down happily in the sofa.

Marybelle brought him his slippers, lit his cigar for him and murmured happily, "It sure was a lucky day for me when I first saw you."

And Jim murmured, "I must be dreaming all this. Maybe we'd better pinch each other."

And they did pinch each other—and sure enough, they were dreaming.

It was 6 a.m., on Thanksgiving morning, and the day hadn't even begun.

These are pointed questions and can be asked about nearly everyone in public life, but the Stassen opposition to Nixon seems so vindictive, so directly and even hatefully personal, that one wonders why. Even if a Republican could be elected in 1960, why would anyone, while this party is in such bad shape, start another quarrel in it now? It does not make sense unless there is a motive more profound than meets the eye.

It has been said in Republican circles that President Eisenhower at some time gave Stassen to believe that he was the favorite. But favorites always are changed among the lordly.

Sherman Adams disliked Nixon because strange as it may seem now, Adams too aspired to the ultimate. So Adams and Stassen combined in 1956 to get Nixon dumped—a futile, childish play doomed to failure when it was first bruited, and failing, of course, in the end.

Harold Stassen thereupon retired to Philadelphia where he became a lawyer, which in that city is the most respected profession. However, not long satisfied with such eminence, Stassen determined to run for Governor of Pennsylvania, but the Republicans of that state said nay, nominating instead an eminent manufacturer of pretzels.

One would imagine that Stassen would take the hint and would retire to the law courts and the accumulation of heavy fees. But hope burns eternal in the human soul, and so, Stassen again seeks to drive Nixon from the political arena. Stassen has drawn up a slate of persons who might succeed President Eisenhower, omitting Nixon's name. Those whose names appear are acceptable to Harold Stassen, which matters to the extent that he has one vote in the State of Pennsylvania.

Giving Mom a Present? Choose a Glamour Gift

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Mother may be chief cook, bottle washer, shopper, cleaner, picker-upper after the kids, hostess and a number of other things. But, Dad, don't forget she's a woman, too.

This is a fact that from time to time seems to get overlooked. Her very efficiency, the smooth way in which she runs the house and supervises domestic chores, tends to make you think of her in her working role.

As a result, when a birthday or anniversary rolls around, and a present is to be purchased, many a mother is the recipient of a new model vacuum cleaner, the latest in freezers, an electric can opener, a washer and dryer.

Welcome! Such items surely are, because they make Mom's work easier. But are they really "presents?" That's the big question!

We classify them as "Equipment Needed." Present them on a birthday or other occasion, if you like, but don't think you've given Mom a gift. Actually, realize it or not, you've bought something which, in the long run, is going to make your own life better, too!

Maybe a home appliance or gadget is just what she wanted but, unselfishly, she wanted it for your benefit as well as her own. With this thought in mind, add a bonus present, a special something that's not for Mother, Chief of Household Chores, but for Mom, A Woman.

In this category, consider luxury gifts, feminine fripperies she'd love to own but wouldn't buy for herself because Susie needs shoes again or Junior just has to have a dump truck.

Buy her a bottle of her favorite perfume, cologne or toilet water. Get her a box of fragrant dusting powder with a big, fluffy puff. Pick out the most glamorous compact you can find or a dazzling fancy lipstick case.

Give her jewelry, a slip lavish with lace, a nightgown or pignoir beautiful enough to please a bride, a pretty housecoat!

These are just a few suggestions. There are lots of other things, too, that fall into the category of glamour gifts Mother will love.

Giving Mom a Present? Choose a Glamour Gift

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Mother may be chief cook, bottle washer, shopper, cleaner, pick-upper after the kids, hostess and a number of other things. But, Dad, don't forget she's a woman, too.

This is a fact that from time to time seems to get overlooked. Her very efficiency, the smooth way in which she runs the house and supervises domestic chores, tends to make you think of her in her working role.

As a result, when a birthday or anniversary rolls around, and a present's to be purchased, many a mother is the recipient of a new model vacuum cleaner, the latest in freezers, an electric can opener, a washer and dryer.

Welcome! Such items surely are, because they make Mom's work easier. But are they really "presents"? That's the big question!

We classify them as "Equipment Needed." Present them on a birthday or other occasion, if you like, but don't think you've given Mom a gift. Actually, realize it or not, you've bought something which, in the long run, is going to make your own life better, too!

These are just a few suggestions. There are lots of other things, too, that fall into the category of glamour gifts Mother will love.

Class AA All-Ohio Football Team for 1958 Is Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio named its high school football jewels today — The Associated Press 1958 class AA all-state team.

They come from everywhere, these scholastic stalwarts who are only a couple of years away from collegiate stardom.

Not in several seasons has Ohio been the "happy hunting grounds" for the collegiate talent-seekers as it is today. Standouts in all positions were numerous among the 25,000 youngsters who produced one of the state's most spectacular seasons.

The annual selections, recognized as official by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Assn., were made with the aid of some 300 coaches, more than 100 sports editors and a score of officials. The spots were killed only from class AA schools. An all-Ohio from the smaller class A group will be announced later.

Bob Middleton, 6-foot 4-inch, 215-pound end for Marion Harding's Presidents, was named the outstanding lineman in the state, and college scouts are certain to beat a path to his door.

The No. 1 back honors went to John Mumme, 190-pound, 6-1 fullback for Painesville Harvey, 1957 scoring leader who paced the state until late in the 1958 campaign when he was shelved by injuries.

This was a year for great ends and tackles—and the voters rewarded the bigger boys with unbounded ability. Only one of the 11 players on the offensive team is under six feet tall—Ken Johnson of New Concord.

Ken, a 160-pound, 5-8 speedster, led Ohio's scorers with 204 points on 33 touchdowns and three two-point conversions as New Concord won 10 in a row. He scored 19 touchdowns in each of the two previous years for a career total of 71. During his four years in high school, New Concord compiled a 36-1-1 record.

Walt Zingg, who quarterbacked Alliance to the state championship, was named the all-Ohio signal-caller in a snug fight with Vic Ippolito of South Euclid Brush.

Leo Caito, who scored around 130 points for Cleveland Cathedral Latin, moved in beside Johnson at halfback to round out the backfield.

Bob Vogel, Massillon's 6-5, 225-pound, pass-catching end, took an offensive job with Middleton. Two giants, 210-pound, 6-1 Gene Knight of Newark, and 235-pound, 6-2 Joe Bonar of Bellaire, took the tackle jobs on offense.

The offensive guards are John Parrish of Canton Lincoln and Doug Rodgers of Portsmouth, a pair of fleet-footed six-footers, and at center is Bill Bryant of Galion, 195 and six feet.

The first defensive unit is just as impressive, nine being over six feet and the team averaging around 200 pounds. One oddity on the first defensive team was that Haze McKee of Massillon won the center guard spot in the statewide voting, although he failed to make the all-Stark County first team picked by the coaches from that football hotbed.

But the coaches, writers and officials who saw him against the non-county opponents showered him with support and he could not be left off the all-Ohio.

Players named to the all-Ohio squad will receive added points as the coaches select the all-star squads next week for the North-August. This, many of the hotshots will be seen in the annual Yankee-Rebel fray.

RO Halts VFW In 66-59 Tilt

Yingling, Dunlap's Register Victories

A big second half was all River Oil needed to hand Veterans of Foreign Wars a 66-59 defeat in local industrial league cage play at the coliseum last night.

In two other games Dunlap's downed Kirk Furniture, 65-57, and Yingling Hybrids trounced Ashville, 68-42.

Both VFW and River Oil went into last night's test undefeated. VFW led throughout the first half, but saw its lead vanish in the final two quarters.

VFW started fast, gaining a 19-8 first quarter margin and a 31-26 intermission lead. River Oil stormed back for a 45-42 third quarter advantage and padded this lead in the fourth frame.

RIVER OIL'S Brown was top point maker with 24. Smith added 14 and Hummel 13.

Eddie Tomlinson paced VFW with 19 markers. Ducky Smith hit for 15 and Young 14.

Dunlap's attack was spearheaded by Wardell Metzger and James, each with 14 points. Stonerock assisted with 13. Jacobs was high for Kirk's with 19 and Hurt had 14.

Don Hinton sparked Yingling's win with 21 points. Merle and Johns each collected 17. High man for the test was Riegel of Ashville who hit for 24.

The next industrial loop action is scheduled for December 11, with three games on tap. The card calls for River Oil vs. Kirk's Furniture, VFW vs. Ashville and Dunlaps vs. Yinglings.

Washington Tops Walnut, 40-33

Recently the Washington junior high basketball team invaded Walnut and handed its hosts a 40-33 defeat.

Washington trailed at the first quarter mark, 10-8, and at half-time, 18-15.

Behind the scoring of Glen Fowler and Charles Holland, Washington rallied to lead 28-24 at the third quarter mark and amassed 16 points while holding Walnut to five in the final stanza.

The Ohio Tax Dollar

Fiscal Year July 1, 1957 to June 30, 1958

Highway Appropriation Takes Major Share of Ohio Taxes

The above Ohio Tax Dollar chart from the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes shows at a glance where the pennies came from that made up each of the $1.4 billion dollars that the State of Ohio collected during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1958.

It also shows how many cents out of each dollar were spent for highways, education and other purposes.

Twenty cents out of every dollar that the state took in came from the gasoline tax, auto license tags and the highway use tax. The sales tax accounted for 19 cents out of each dollar collected; federal grants, 16 cents; money from the sale of bonds, 16 cents; liquor sales, 8 cents, and all other sources of revenue 23 cents.

Twenty-eight cents out of each dollar that the state spent went for highways; 23 cents for education;

Annie Oakley Added to Ohio Hall of Fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Phoebe Anne Moze—known far and wide as Annie Oakley—is the latest selection for Ohio's Teenage Hall of Fame.

The famed markswoman of the late 19th century will join other Ohioans remembered for outstanding accomplishments as teenagers.

They will be honored at dedication ceremonies in the Statehouse next spring. State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Teenage Hall of Fame chairman, announced the selection committee's choice.

Born near North Star in Darke County, Annie won worldwide acclaim for her uncanny skill with firearms. At the age of nine she shot quail with a big cap-and-ball rifle to help provide her family with food. From then on she hunted game for the family table. Soon she became known as "Little Sure Shot."

Before she was 16, Frank Butler swagged into a marksmanship match in Darke County and challenged anyone to shoot at $100 a side. Annie accepted the challenge, won the match and her rival's heart. They married a short time later.

The couple traveled with a road show and caught the eye of William Cody, known as Buffalo Bill, who signed her to a contract. She toured the United States and Europe amid growing fame.

Free tickets or passes to theatrical and sports events long have been known as "Annie Oakleys." They got that name because they often were punched with holes, like the playing cards she hit during shooting exhibitions.

Others nominated for the Hall of Fame ceremonies include Thomas Alva Edison, Charles F. Kettering, Joe E. Brown, Roy Rogers and Paul Lawrence Dunbar.

LE Grange To Meet

Logan Elm Grange will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in Pickaway Twp. School. Miss Helen Hoover will be a special guest. Members are asked to bring a dozen cookies for boxes for servicemen.

One Injury Treated

Howard White, 46, of 587 N. Court St., cut the index finger of his right hand on a license plate when his hand slipped while cranking an old car at 11 p. m. yesterday. He was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

Wall Street Unfrightened By Price Drop

Many Call Shakeout Healthy; New Upturn Could Be in Offing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The shakeout in the stock market the first of the week has frightened few Wall Streeters. Even those who hastened to sell before prices slipped too far from their peak acted today as if they had been waiting for it rather than showing any surprise.

None pretends to know how far the deflation will carry or when a fresh vigorous upturn will come. But many call the shakeout at this time healthy.

Rapidly rising stock prices had by most standards—discounted the general business recovery for some time to come. That is, record high stock prices could be justified, in conservative minds, only by a boom in production, sales, in profits and in dividends that most people considered many months away.

The big upswing in prices also had discounted the inflation fears that many held. These had grown after the size of the federal deficit became known, and later when many felt the election of a liberal spending Congress would aggravate it.

But inflation would have to carry much farther and in a much shorter period of time than now seems likely to catch up with the fast rise in stock prices soon.

These two big supports of the rampant bull market—confidence in a strong business recovery and fear of big inflation—have carried prices pretty high.

They had risen so high, in fact, that many traders doubtless were ready to sell at the first sign of a tumble. This could account for the big volume of selling Monday after last Friday's price weakness.

There were worrisome conditions too. Labor strife seemed to be growing. While this could lead to more inflation, through the wage-price spiral—it also meant that many companies were losing chances for a quick return to better profits.

Earnings, although improving, were still disquietingly below their peak. And profit margins were still squeezed by rising costs—threatening to hold down dividends for some time to come.

Foreign news in recent days had been upsetting. Stock traders dislike uncertainties.

Wall Street Unfrightened By Price Drop

Many Call Shakeout Healthy; New Upturn Could Be in Offing

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The shakeout in the stock market the first of the week has frightened few Wall Streeters. Even those who hastened to sell before prices slipped too far from their peak acted today as if they had been waiting for it rather than showing any surprise.

None pretends to know how far the deflation will carry or when a fresh vigorous upturn will come. But many call the shakeout at this time healthy.

Rapidly rising stock prices had — by most standards — discounted the general business recovery for some time to come. That is, record high stock prices could be justified, in conservative minds, only by a boom in production, sales, in profits and in dividends that most people considered many months away.

The big upswing in prices also had discounted the inflation fears that many held. These had grown after the size of the federal deficit became known, and later, when many felt the election of a liberal spending Congress would aggravate it.

But inflation would have to carry much farther and in a much shorter period of time than now seems likely to catch up with the fast rise in stock prices soon.

These two big supports of the rampant bull market—confidence in a strong business recovery and fear of big inflation — have carried prices pretty high.

They had risen so high, in fact, that many traders doubtless were ready to sell at the first sign of a tumble. This could account for the big volume of selling Monday after last Friday's price weakness.

There were worrisome conditions too. Labor strife seemed to be growing. While this could lead to more inflation, through the wage-price spiral—it also meant that many companies were losing chances for a quick return to better profits.

Earnings, although improving, were still disquietingly below their peak. And profit margins were still squeezed by rising costs — threatening to hold down dividends for some time to come.

Foreign news in recent days had been upsetting. Stock traders dislike uncertainties.

Confidence which bloomed so brightly in the early days of the recovery tended to shrivel a bit when the fast rate turned to a slower pace—although this is common to most business recoveries.
